

Empowering Women and Widow Assistance

In rural India women are far from being empowered, most of them are even deprived of basic rights like health, education, employment and a respectable status in society. This is to uplift the feminine section of our society and empowering them for the bright future. The assistance will help them to understand their worth and abilities to mark a new beginning. The project will help the housemakers with the help of promoting homemade food and products, handicraft, micro financing, small scale manufacturing industries and also the home industry concept. The rehabilitation of widows and financing their children is also one of the major aspects of this empowerment initiative.

Census Identification

Census of Khandelwals residing in India and abroad is another positive step to bring the whole society together to support the cause and realize the mission. An online portal to collect demographic profile of all in Khandelwal community will be linked to UID system or Aadhaar card subject to adequate permission. The details will be used for many applications like job and business opportunities, matrimony match making, networking, birthday/ anniversary greetings and for the newsletter circulation about the events.

Inviting Members

Following the concept of “Together we stand”, we want enthusiasts from our society to come forward and contribute the best to make the change winsome on whole.
